Student Life

We're people —

learning experiencing giving living . . .

Our memories are of friends

teachers

football stars

assembly speakers officers

people . . .

We're starting a new generation,

a new motto —

"UP WITH PEOPLE!"

People,
 energy,
 the laugh
 and the job,
 books,
 the typewriters . . .
 goodby.

"Fredrica"
and the beauties, speech and marching sounds,
ríngs,
alumní . . .
Fenwíck.

Seniors , spirit ,
the Lord Gabe , toothpicks and dum-dums , pledges ,
frosh . . .
a good day.

That special dance,
a corsage,
victory party
and Terry, dances,
a pause
and the noise . . .
atmosphere.

Morning,
the empty corridor,
people arrive, lunches and
books . . .
people leave.

*A fearful moment,
boys listen,
people watch,
girls laugh. . .

*The majorettes,
a hopeful bench,
coaches,
a fearful cheerleader . . .

A football "poster," backstage campaign,
the girls
say goodbye,
I vote for . . .
friends.

Academics

We came to learn to think to feel

to know

to work to do.

Our teachers,

the knowledge-givers,

have watched our minds grow,

have seen the learners

learn to say

"UP WITH PEOPLE!"

People lead listen and advise

In her first year as principal, Sister Marie Rose Julie quickly became a vital force in Fenwick life. By her constant, sincere interest in all facets of the school, from football to Student Council, she made her own welcome. Students felt and appreciated her concern, loyalty and vitality. Representing their clubs in Inter-Club Council were: Seated, M. Manning, secretary; G. Rossi, president; S. McGarr, D. LeBlanc; M. Newhall; R. Peirce, vice-president; B. Riley,

J. Steele; B. McGlynn; R. Manning; D. Dupuis. Standing, Mr. P. Lyness, faculty advisor; E. Stanley; P. Moore, E. Haley, P. Hennessy, E. Hanlon, V. Mitchell.

Inter-Club Council . . . Mingling of minds

Although the idea for Inter-Club Council originated with the Student Council, it functioned as an entirely separate organization.

At the first meeting held on October 21, a constitution for the Council was ratified and the purposes of the club were determined. Inter-Club Council was organized with three main objectives: first, to promote school spirit; second, to unite the clubs by an increased program of co-operation among them; third, to keep the students informed of various club activities.

The Council's constitution required three officers: a president to run the meetings and appoint committees, a vice-president to take charge of reports and evaluate activities, and a secretary to record the minutes of the meetings and to carry on all necessary correspondence. Officers were: Gabriel Rossi, president; Robert Peirce, vice-president; and Mary Manning, secretary.

The Inter-Club Council was composed of one representative from each club and three representatives from the Student Council. Mr. Paul Lyness acted as faculty advisor.

Project Hope Week was the main project of the Council. A physician from Danvers who served on the ship Hope for two months, Dr. Auchenback, inaugurated the week with an assembly by relating his experiences on board the hospital ship and by showing a movie about the services of its staff. Proceeds raised from all activities held during this week were donated to the Hope.

Besides their Project Hope Week, the Inter-Club Council held dances for the benefit of various school clubs. In preparation for these dances, each club performed a specific duty. This new spirit of co-operation helped to make Fenwick dances more organized and more successful this year.

Student Council . . . Voice of the students

Under the leadership of President James Manzi, the Student Council assumed a new role in planning and coordinating the activities of the school year. Jim and Council moderator Sister Helen Cornelia attended a summer conference of Student Councils at the University of Massachusetts. The ideas they brought back gave the Council new goals and projects to carry out.

The formation of the Inter-Club Council was a direct result of the University workshop. In this new organization, representatives of all Fenwick clubs worked together to insure the success of their individual projects.

This year the Council adopted parliamentary procedure, formed standing committees to plan rallies, assemblies and special events like Teacher Appreciation Day, and took care of maintenance for the Fenwick bus. The Council also sponsored a Swap-Shop of Catholic high school Councils to promote inter-school interest and to trade opinions and methods.

Members of the Council's Executive Board were Linda Spence and Stephen Kearns, senior representatives, and Sharon O'Brien and Edward Bussone, junior representatives.

Girls serving on Student Council were: First row—S. Manzi, M. Ouellette, M. Hennessey, M. Ronan, T. Bussone, S. O'Brien, board member; D. Welch, L. Mizzi, H. L'Heureux, S. Woodbury. Second row—C. Moore, J. Levesque, J. McGlynn, D. Doucette, L. Masterson, S. Hines, S. Amenta, D.

National Honor Society . . . Service for all

The National Honor Society, moderated by Sister Helen Cornelia, has distinguished itself as an organization whose members are characterized by the basic qualities of character, scholarship, leadership, and service.

This year, National Honor members executed many notable projects. The Student Aid Program, organized under the direction of Mary Essember, was designed to aid those students who were having difficulty in a particular subject. Under this program, an individual in the Society volunteered to help one student in a personal tutoring setup.

Other projects sponsored by the society included writing to alumni, aiding at school functions, planning a cultural excursion, and working to provide a partial scholarship for an incoming freshman.

A committee headed by Marie Witwicki compiled a list of alumni who wished to receive current news of Fenwick activities. Individual members of the National Honor Society then received the name of an alumnus to keep supplied with school news by either personal letters or newspaper clippings.

Lucinda Manzi worked with her committee to discover facts necessary in planning the cultural excursion.

The officers of the Society were: James Manzi, president; Mary Essember, vice-president; Marie Witwicki, treasurer; and Lucinda Manzi, secretary.

Members of the Spanish National Honor Society were: Seated—L. Couceiro, L. Campus, S. Canavan, L. Spence. Standing—F. Micale, P. Kulakowski.

Standing — R. Kieran, D. Steele, treasurer; E. Hanlon, D. Goggin, R. Silva, president; A. Makar.

Debate . . . Argument for a purpose

The Bishop Fenwick debate team won a first place position in the regular season of the North Shore Debate League. In the past two years the debaters have brought home over 40 speaker and team awards. All varsity members of the team, Ralph Silva, Terry McGee, John Steele, Liz Lund, received the highest honor of the National Forensic League — the degree of distinction.

The novice members displayed their unmatched technique in debating, dropping only two contests in the North Shore circuit.

This year's topic, "Resolved: That the foreign aid program of the U.S. should be limited to non-military assistance," proved a challenging and rewarding subject to all involved.

The officers of the squad were Ralph Silva, president; Terry McGee, vice-president; Dan Steele, treasurer; and Delpfine Welch, secretary.

French club members were: Front row — M. Newhall, A. Travers, K. O'Rourke, P. Niconchuk, S. Woodbury, D. Dupuis, J. Okker, president; E. Haley, vice-president; S. Kane, N. Burke, B. Casey, S. LeBlanc, M. Gagnon. Second row—K. Merrill, M. McEwan, N. Mercier, M. Mottola, D. Riva, M. Ouellette, B. Gemski, K. Beer, S. Pierce, R. Bob-

French Club . . . Living through language

Members of the French club met each week to develop a background in the culture, customs, life and history of France and her people. Outstanding meetings of the year featured guest speakers, a French film and a traditional Christmas supper.

Sister Ruth Marie of the French department of Emmanuel College visited the club early in the year to present slides of France. The teenager's life in France was the topic covered by Fr. Garonne of St. John's Prep at another meeting. The delightful award-winning movie, "Le Ballon Rouge" gave the members a wonderful picture of Paris.

The club highlighted the Christmas season with a popular "Reveillon," a Christmas meal. President Jennine Okker, vice-president Eileen Haley, and moderator Miss Patricia McWalters made '67 an active year.

Senior and junior members of the science club were: Seated—S. Leach, J. Theriault, secretary; D. LeBlanc, president; R. LeBlanc, vice-president; D. Holmes, treasurer; K. Giunta, R. Gauthier, B. Barbee. Standing—M. Glynn, M. Rubin, J. Esposito, D. Hitchman, M. Newhall, C. O'Brien, D. Cardinale, K. Mullen, H. Plourde, M. Gillis, C. McCarthy, A. Garrity, R. Ouellette.

The sophomore and freshman members of the science club were: Seated—S. Manzi, C. Moore, S. Hines, M. Ouellette, J. L'Abbe, L. Bradley. Standing—J. O'Shea, R. McCauley, P. Jalbert, M. Fraser, T. Plamondon, W. Ford, D. Berube, J. Drabczuk.

Science Club . . . Exploring the unknown

This year the enrollment of the science club increased considerably. The 40 members were provided with the opportunity to investigate all the sciences. Every Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon the students conducted chemistry experiments or viewed biology films. The boys worked with electrical systems for a few weeks. The senior members assisted the underclassmen in the procedure of lab technique.

Interesting programs such as speakers in scientific professions and field trips to industrial plants and labs were planned by Donna LeBlanc, president; Raymond LeBlanc, vice president; Judith Theriault, secretary; and Dianne Holmes, treasurer, under the supervision of Sister Catherine George.

A new program was initiated on Monday evenings. Mr. Donald Lutz, a liaison of Avco in Everett and of the advisory council of New England Educators, spoke on several subjects including the practical solution to the problem of missile re-entry; he also instructed the group in the principles of the slide rule.

Library Science Club . . . Aiding knowledge

Under the supervision of Sister Madeleine Louise and Sister Catherine St. Michael, the Library Science Club sought to learn about library work and gain practical experience in the operation of a library.

Members' duties were divided into two general categories: preparing the books for general circulation and releasing them to the students. Fenwick's library possesses over 7,000 books including many valuable reference works. Before these books could be placed on the shelves, library aides performed various tasks: typing file cards and circulation cards, marking spine numbers, bringing the card catalogue up to date, and covering the books.

After the books had been completely processed, they were put on the shelves for the students' use. Library aides helped students to find specific books for required reading, term paper writing, or light, pleasure reading. Each library aide reported to the library one afternoon a week and worked behind the desk to receive and stamp out books, or in the back room to prepare new books for release.

Officers of the library science club were: Mary Manning, president; Marie Fouhey, vice-president; and Maureen O'Meara, secretary.

Serving as Library Aides were S. Hoskinson, S. Kane, P. Jalbert, S. Walker, M. O'Meara, secretary; K. Menici, M. Fouhey, vice-president; M. Manning, president; P. Cena, M. Smith, J. Camenga.

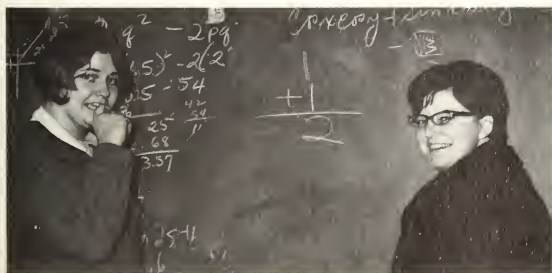

Representing Fenwick at math meets were G. Golden, M. Essember, S. Ortins, N. Donahue.

Even Mathletes Debbie Heffernan and Noreen Donahue have problems.

Mary Essember and Cindy Manzi show that two heads are better than one.

Mathletes . . . Analysis and solution

The Mathletes were coached by Miss Paula Groszyk. Senior members, Lucinda Manzi, Noreen Donahue, and Mary Essember, provided the spirit and ability necessary to head any successful team. Underclassmen who participated as Mathletes were Gerald Golden, Deborah Heffernan, and Suzanne Ortins.

Mathletes performed admirably in their meets this year. In the first meet of the season, held at Cardinal Cushing Central High, they finished a strong sixth out of twenty teams. At Hingham, in their second meet, Mathletes displaying determination and improved techniques captured the coveted second place. In each of their meets, the Mathletes have distinguished themselves and Fenwick.

The Lance . . . Our year in review

During the summer, Lance editors Alice Walton and Marianne Newhall attended a yearbook conference at Catholic University in Washington, D. C. The techniques they learned there were applied to the Lance and have given a new look to the yearbook.

During the month of November the Lance ran a subscription campaign, initiated by Mr. Richard Weir from the American Yearbook Company. The rise in sales enabled the Lance staff to increase the page size and the number of pages of the book, and to cover more fully all aspects of the school year.

Coordinators Sue Cashman, Ellen McCarthy, Dave Phillips, Mariann Ronan, Robert Peirce, and Rose Horrigan worked with the editors and Sister John Dolores, advisor, to produce the 1967 Lance.

WICK ...

The written word

The Wick, the school newspaper, merited a First Class category rating by the National Scholastic Press Association and a second prize awarded by the International Quill and Scroll for excellence in journalism.

The Wick provided the student body with previews of future school and community events, spotlights on outstanding students, reviews of movies and plays, editorials on current problems, and a comprehensive review of important school activities. It also gave its members insights into the field of journalism.

This year's editors also taught layout procedure to the entire staff so that all members, rather than just the editors, would be capable of submitting layouts.

Elections of new junior editors were held in January. The Wick followed a policy of early election to enable the juniors to work with the seniors and to gain practical experience before they take over the paper next year. New editors are: Eileen Haley, Terrence McGee, co-editors-in-chief; Paulette Gauthier, page 2; Scott Borrelli, page 3; Richard Sobocinski, sports editor; and Fred Berry, associate sports editor.

Kennedy Club . . . People on the move

Kennedy club, moderated by Father Bukay and Sister Bernadette Marie, was made up of boys from all four classes dedicated to serving others. As well as benefiting the school and surrounding communities Kennedy Club helped to build strong character and leadership in its members.

Officers for this year were: Stephen Kearns, president; Richard Boyd, vice-president; and Anthony Porcello, secretary.

Kennedy club originated a new project for trips to Danvers State Hospital. In the beginning of the school year, members went to Danvers simply for a tour of the hospital. Many of the members found this tour so interesting they decided to sign up for volunteer work. Three groups were organized, as many other students not in the Kennedy club volunteered to help. They visited Danvers once a week, talking and playing games with the patients.

Together with the girls' sodality, the Kennedy club sponsored the annual Christmas Cotillion during the Christmas vacation. Both organizations worked extremely hard to make the affair a success.

Other Kennedy club activities included the sale of cider during the Thanksgiving season and the sale of candy at Fenwick basketball games. The money was used to buy Christmas baskets and to support foreign missions.

Members of the girls' Sodality were: Front row—R. Horigan, N. Blanchard, D. Neary, J. Mallia, J. Okker, S. Smith, secretary; M. Ronan, prefect; P. Blair, vice-prefect; E. Lund, treasurer; M. Essember, A. Wanelik, M. Fouhey, M. Dooling. Second row—M. Pimenta, E. Mello, K. Lamy, E. Grant, M. Mroz, S. O'Brien, M. Glynn,

Girls Sodality . . . People helping people

The Fenwick chapter of the Regina Pacis Sodality, moderated by Sister Mary St. Rose, conducted many different activities this year. Among their projects were collecting and packing medicines for missions, teaching Confraternity of Christian Doctrine classes, working with retarded children and organizing the Christmas Cotillion. Officers for this year were Mariann Ronan, prefect; Patricia Blair, vice-prefect; Susan Smith, secretary; and Elizabeth Lund, treasurer.

Newly-elected officers for next year are Helen L'Heureux, prefect; Eloise Mello, vice-prefect; Mary Ellen Dooling, secretary; and Betsy Grant, treasurer.

On the Board of Directors were Sharon O'Brien, Ellen Stanley, Eileen Hennessy and Angela Themes.

The freshman girls' sodality, directed by Sister Mona, formed an active subgroup to the senior sodality. Before freshmen were allowed to enter the main sodality, they had to learn the sodality way of life by membership in this preliminary sodality.

As their Christmas project, freshman Sodality members sponsored a drive for canned goods, toys and clothing for poor children. The drive, widely publicized throughout the school by means of appealing posters, was a tremendous success. Freshman officers included: Barbara Cawley, prefect; Jean Fleming, vice-prefect; Luanne Nardella, secretary; and Adele Mroz, treasurer.

Girls in the freshman Sodality were: Front row—E. Kelly, M. Cahill, M. Roberto, C. Larned, H. Pazdziorny. Second row—K. Coughlin, B. Cawley, president; P. Osepchuk, M. Connolly, D. Ogiba, C. McGinny, S. Weinburg. Third row—J. Simmons, D. Moran, J. Fleming, secretary; L. Nardella, vice-president; P. Browne, M. Fosdick, F. Centorino. Back row—A. Mroz, treasurer; P. Powers, S. Ganong, L. Art Club . . . Talent and service

A "community club"? The art club filled that description well, working to help all the other clubs in the school advertise coming events and decorate wherever and whenever there was something special going on. At the Christmas Cotillion art club members transformed the gymnasium into a charming New England village.

Members made and hung decorations for many activities, including the Valentine and other club dances. Advertisements adorned the school corridors weeks in advance for school happenings.

Besides serving the school, art club helped to develop the talents of its members who learned to apply the basic ideas of sculpture as they created original statues. Oil painting, traditional and modern, was also offered with an emphasis on shape and form. Acquired skills increased the artistic talents of members and will prove beneficial in the students' futures. The hard work of Mary Essember, club president, and Sister Michael Raymond, moderator, made the art club program a success.

The boys give full participation in their weekly practice sessions.

Glee Club . . . People and song

The Glee Club had a total of 95 members this year. Each Wednesday the fifty-five girls in the club met for practice; each Tuesday the forty boys in the club met. Joint meetings of the two groups were held on Tuesdays and Wednesdays every five or six weeks.

During December the Glee Club performed at the Ivy Rest Home in Salem and for the student body at an assembly. Most important to the members was their appearance at the Fine Arts concert on April 23rd and the Annual Spring Concert on May 21st.

Through the year the members of the Glee Club, under the direction of Sister Ellen St. Anne, were given an outlet for their musical talents. By supervised choral practice the discipline necessary for display was instilled. A chance to show achievement and to experience stage entertainment was provided through the several concerts during the year.

This past year's officers were: president, Stephen Kearns; vice-president, Sheila McGarr; secretary, Sheila White; corresponding secretary, Madeline Pimenta; and librarians, Elizabeth Grant and Eloise Mello.

Members of the glee club were Front row—E. Kitsakos, C. O'Rourke, M. Cahill, E. Mello, K. Klise, S. Weinburg, B. Lessard, S. McGarr, vice-president; S. Kearns, president; S. White, secretary; E. Dance Band . . . Music makers of tomorrow

The main musical event of the past year was the jazz concert staged by the dance band in March. The program featured the sounds of modern rock groups, especially the popular Tijuana Brass.

The band also made a trip to Danvers State Hospital and entertained the patients there on one occasion. During the spring, the group was busy with prom engagements and assembly concerts at other schools. The band's officers were Gabe Rossi, president; John Corbett, vice-president; and Tom Lamy, secretary.

Drama Club . . .

Presenting the performers

This year the drama club was reinstated under the supervision of Sister Teresa Patricia. Over 70 students signed up for membership, as enthusiasm for the club spread.

The one-act play, Ghost of a Show, was the club's major project this year. The cast, including Mary Ellen Niconchuk, Terry Coogan, Judith Theriault, Daniel Cardinale, Michael Keating, Mary Essember, Arthur Garrity, Virginia Murphy, Suzanne Bitchell and Brian Guerrette rehearsed on several weekend nights in preparation for the performance. In Sister Teresa's absence Elaine Mello took over the task of directing.

Joyce Furey was in charge of back-stage activity.

Film Club . . . Appreciation of culture

The film club, moderated by Brother Gene Barrette and Sister Charles Ann, was initiated into the Fenwick club program this year and gained many members. The club met monthly to discuss the techniques of film-making, to analyze films and to develop an appreciation for good pictures.

"David and Lisa," "Singing in the Rain," and "The Golden Age of Comedy" were among the many selections analyzed by the club.

The members of the film club were: Front row—M. Toomey, M. Hennessey, J. McLaughlin, L. Campus, M. Essember, S. Monahan, Y. Verrette, M. Ronan, L. Cote, B. Gemski, S. Smith, D. Hayward, E. Gareri, C. In defense of the championship

The Bishop Fenwick Crusaders rolled to their fifth straight winning season in 1966, chalking up a 7-2 record, good enough for second place in the Catholic Central League and fifth in the overall state Class C ratings. In the course of the year, Fenwick extended the state's longest streak to fifteen games. The skein was halted by a 28-8 loss to the league's newest entry, Xaverian of Westwood, which went on to cop the league and state championships.

This year's squad was captained by Jack Mercier, Bernie Mitchell, and Walt "Dyke" Diachisin. With the exception of the loss to Xaverian, a tight 14-8 win over Cathedral, and the heart-breaking 7-6 loss to St. Mary's on Thanksgiving, Fenwick completely outclassed its opponents, outscoring the opposition 194-73. The outstanding record of this year's squad firmly entrenched Fenwick's position as a Class C powerhouse, and proved that the Fenwick brand of football is second to none.

Members of the 1966 varsity football team were: Front row—J. Silva, J. Balmer, J. Fernandes, M. Ross, E. Henry, M. O'Brien, W. Diachisin, J. Mercier, B. Mitchell; second row—G. Pierce, R. Paskowski, C. McCarthy, K. Kelly, R.

Everybody plays

More boys participated in intramural basketball than in any other sport, because "you don't have to be good to play." There were no stars in the intramural program, since the varsity and junior varsity players were ineligible. The key to victory was teamwork. Keen competition grew up between the different homerooms, and large cheering sections gave the teams added incentive and livened up the game. Class champs in the boys' divisions were: 402, 304, 204, 104. Because of its late start, girls' intramurals will be covered in the supplement.

Veterans on this year's winter track team were: Front row—S. Lowe, P. Moore, P. White, M. Keating; Back row—Coach LeDuc, D. Bowes, E. Lynch, D. Phillips. Also on the team were: T. McCarthy, J. Farley, K. Jones, P. Wedge, E. Wodarski, R. Ouellette, R. Paskowski, J. Darci, D. Melanson, W. Burns, M. Murphy, A. Lynch, R. Money, M. Craigen.

This year's 2-7 record in winter track competition is very deceptive, for despite its dismal appearance, the season had many bright spots. Steve Lowe and Paul White set new records in the 1000 yard run and the mile respectively. The relay team of Darci, Moore, Ouellette, and Farley submitted an excellent time, while high scorer Mike Keating kept the team in the contests.

Coach Ralph LeDuc has much to look forward to next year, for the juniors and sophomores were the backbone of this year's team. With the likes of returning veterans Paul Wedge, Joe Darci, and Jack Farley, next year's team should go far.

Basketball, girl's style

The Bishop Fenwick girl's basketball team continued their winning ways this season, compiling a 7-3 record. This placed them in a first place tie in the Catholic Conference. The girls, captained by Marie Witwicki and Mary Manning and coached by Miss Sandra Shirock, had the spirit needed to merit and to win their Class A title.

Members of the varsity team were: Front row—M. Manning, co-captain; M. Witwicki, co-captain. Second row—W. Kallas, M. Mroz. Back row—M. Twomey, P. Cullen, J. Quinn.

Around the rim and in

The Bishop Fenwick boy's basketball team wound up its Catholic Central League season, its last under Coach Bernard Sidman, with an 8-10 record. Although compiling a losing record, the squad provided many exciting moments, including two resounding victories over arch-rival St. Mary's of Lynn. This year's squad was captained by Bill Ross, and paced by high scorers Ed Bozek, Jack Mercier, and Rick Urbanowicz. The J.V. record of 12-6 promises a bright future for Fenwick basketball.

Whether leading the cheers at a Fenwick game or sparking enthusiasm into the student body during a rally, the cheerleaders always put their whole heart into their work. Football games and basketball games would not be complete without them. Bringing home a second place trophy from the North Reading High School Cheerleading Competition is only one honor that the cheerleaders received for their efforts.

This year's varsity squad was captained by Terry Bussone and Barb Riley. Mary D'Alessandro and Janice Doyle lead the junior varsity squad.

Members of the junior varsity squad were: Front row—L. Masterson, A. McCarthy. Standing—J. Egan, M. D'Alessandro, co-captain; J. Cadoret, M. McNiff, J. Doyle, co-captain; R. St. Pierre, M. Rowen, D. Doucette.

 The members of the 1967 varsity baseball team were: front row—R. Prior, B. Shepperson, W. Diachisin, J. Mercier, B. Belleau; second row—J. Jaworski, P. Wedge, J. Farley, P. McNamee, J. Hannigan; third row—B. Silva, J. Keenan, J. Dunleavy, J. McGivern, K. Ouellette; fourth row—A. Porcello, M. Prior, T. Ryan, J. Lynch, K. Moore, Coach Birmingham.

John Keenan leaps from behind the plate toward a pop foul.

A trial and error season

Fenwick closed her '67 baseball season under co-captains Walter Diachisin and Jack Mercier, the only veterans to leave. This season's team was experimental, with Coach John Birmingham re-shuffling positions.

The squad promises to roll up a successful season next year.

The people involved in Wrestling, golf, tennis

The golf team completed their fourth season with a 7-7 record, under the direction of Mr. Lloyd Wescott and Mr. Alan Fullerton. Voted the "most valuable player" by the league coaches was Dick Landers. Bill Sullivan and Mike Phelan were elected "most valuable players" by the North Shore League.

The wrestling team, a new addition to Fenwick's athletic clubs, was coached this year by Jim Kelley, a Fenwick graduate. Although the team participated in no league matches, they learned many new holds and techniques.

The coaching duties of the 1967 tennis team were assumed by Mr. Paul Lyness. With his guidance the team finished the season with a 4-4 record. This year only four seniors, who contributed greatly, are leaving. They are Jim Manzi (singles), Tom Lamy, Steve Kearns, and Mike Keating (doubles).

Jim Manzi backhands the ball in style.

Janice Doyle swings for a base hit.

Eileen Haley, Mary Ellen Lawlor, and Diane Harrigan of 303, runners-up in the girls' intramural basketball, congratulate members of the winning 302 team, Janice Doyle, Judy Egan, Jean McGlynn, and Catherine Lewis.

Paula Cullen connects with the ball.

Girl athletes and sports awards

A new addition to Fenwick's increasing number of sports for girls was the softball team coached by Miss Janice Winskowicz. Good sportsmanship outweighed the season's losses.

Friendly competition is the key word in girls' intramural basketball. The standings at the end of the season were:

*Recognition, one by one.
The proud march down the aisle,
A brief, memorable handshake,
Trophies, medals, certificates,
Some are singled out,
But none are forgotten;
All are one on Honors Night.*

*Wearing caps and gowns
We set the altar stage,
Fenwick folk Mass,
Thank God for four years,
A change of attire and atmosphere
A crowded cafeteria,
Dinner with parents and friends.*

Someone once wrote, "I find the great thing in this world is not so much where we stand, but rather in what direction we are moving." Since we are young, we do like to be "on the move." We like to be where the action is; we are a restless generation.

All of us have witnessed a "lift-off" of one of the great rockets that hurls an astronaut into space. There is the count-down, the violent jet exhaust, and off it goes, up, up, and then it begins to arc, to bend in a certain direction. We, the students of a jet age, are off the launching pad, and we are beginning to bend in a certain direction.

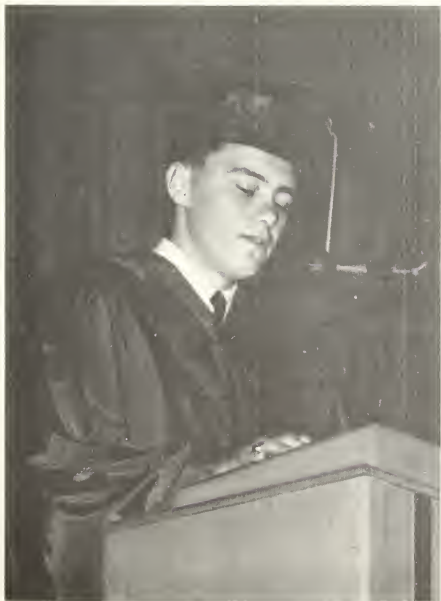

It is, of course, the fuel that projects the great missile. What has been the "fuel" that has been pushing us forward? It is a mixture of many things: the love and discipline of our parents, the things we have seen them do, as well as say. It is the contact we have had with teachers; the words we have listened to since the very first grade; the geography, spelling, arithmetic; the stories of God, of Mary and Joseph, and the more advanced intellectual experience of our high school years. It is the religious experiences we have had, the Communion we have received, the confessions we have made, the prayers we have said, our Confirmation. It is the friendships we have made, the rough give and take of the locker room, the basketball court, the football field.

And it is the gentler influence of the women we have known: our mother, the Sisters, the girls we have liked and admired. All those things and many more have influenced the direction we are taking.

Speaking for my classmates today, I would like to thank you all . . . The Sisters, pray for us as the years go on . . . we will always, in a sense, need your help . . . the lay faculty, the men who have taught us, sometimes by just being what they are rather than by anything they said . . . the young women on the faculty, also, for their patience and example . . . Father Bukay and all the priests who have ever helped us when sometimes we have stumbled and been foolish . . . and last, and far from least, the ones we love the most at this stage of our life, our mothers and our fathers. For the seventeen or eighteen years of sacrifice and love you have given to us, our deepest appreciation.

As the astronaut flies high, we, the young people of a jet age, will try to fly high too, in our moral life, in our service of people, in our relationship to God. We thank you for the good "lift-off" you have given to us. We thank you for the opportunity to be graduates of Bishop Fenwick High.

*A long-awaited day,
A procession of graduates,
A handshake and a diploma,
Terry's speech,
Tears and laughter,
Farewells...
Graduation.*

Ring Day —
